

Dr. med. Annika Krickhahn

- 2001 – 2008 Medical School, University of Hamburg
- 2005 – 2008 Doctoral thesis at the Department of Pediatric Surgery / University Hospital Hamburg Eppendorf:
„Correlation of L1-CAM-Expression in Neuroblastoma with Clinical Survival“
- 06 / 2008 License to practice medicine / German Medical Council
- 12 / 2008 Completion of doctoral degree (Dr. med.), University of Hamburg
- 2008 – 2015 Pediatric surgical registrar
(University Hospital Hannover, Germany; Children’s Hospital Hamburg Altona / University Hospital Hamburg Eppendorf, Germany; St George’s NHS Hospital London, UK; University Hospital Helsinki, Finland; Charité University Hospital Berlin, Germany)
- 2012 certified completion of 3 year Oncology Course / European Pediatric Surgeons’ Association (EUPSA)
- 06/2015 German Board certified Pediatric Surgeon
- 2015-2016 Training in additional qualification of sports medicine, University of Potsdam, Germany - Outpatient Clinic, Center for Sports Medicine, Recreational and High Performance Sports, licensed medical examination center of the German Olympic Sports Federation
- 11/2016 - Pediatric Surgeon at the Department of Pediatric Surgery / Charité University Hospital Berlin, Germany
- Clinical work at the Department of Pediatric Surgery
 - Research in the Department of Pediatrics, Division of Oncology and Hematology, under guidance of Prof. Johannes Schulte